Hi Member

In these uncertain times, Multiply Money is one thing you can be sure of to get you through financially, with low risk, no monthly fees and instant access to your money.

Build up an emergency savings fund – by doing the things you already do.
The cashbacks you earn when you shop for essentials at our retail partners, Pick n Pay, Dis-Chem and Clicks are paid directly into your Multiply Money savings wallet. You can also deposit money from any South African bank account into your payment wallet, then transfer it to your savings wallet. The money in your savings wallet grows from the first cent with a great interest rate*.

If you need essentials, Multiply Money has got you covered.
Get easy, instant access to your money by making mobile payments at selected retailers, using your Multiply Money Card to shop for essentials in-store or online or transferring money to your HealthSaver account to pay for medical expenses or pet care at the vet.

It's never too late to start saving for a rainy day.
Since you may be spending less money on non-essentials, set a savings goal on the Multiply Money app and try to save towards it during this time. Having something to work towards is a great way to stay upbeat and motivated.

The recent prime rate cuts may have also left you with extra cash that you can use to pay off your debt quicker or save in a low-risk savings vehicle – especially since the market is uncertain now - to build up an emergency fund.

We encourage you to make the most out of Multiply Money during this time.
